I've been in DC most of the day. Don't let your imagination for a "worst case scenario" keep you from the DC protest. It's all good, and we need you here. We're making history and you'll be very glad you came.

You'll regret not coming if you don't.

This is beyond a "protest." This is a business meeting. Some shit's going to get solved.

Indeed. President Trump must know MAGA warriors don't have infinite time and money to keep traveling to protests in return for lip services. 2 more days. Peace or the start of Civil War? Traitorous Zionist Zuckerberg bet $500 million of his own money on all MAGA warriors will be doing is "protest". Prove him wrong. Make him pay.

2 Exactly. Similar to waze. Theres got to be a service already in place that can be used for this.

3 Yes. My guess is there are GPL/opensource libraries one could use, probably find a bunch on Github, and someone who can code could modify it, make a simply page UI front-end. I've seen a handful of free online/server-side apps for maps. Outside my skillset though.

3 No businesses will close for this. Roadblocks around the Capitol building and WH to allow for foot traffic.

15 I landed from Texas around 4:30PM. Walked to dinner by myself from my hotel. Sat down to eat on the street (restaurants are outdoor seating only). Struck up a conversation w/ two patriots, one from Seattle, the other from NY. Both dialed in to everything - based. Steak dinners all the way around. The NY patriot was kind enough to pick up the tab.

MAGA forever. GET HERE.

12 It will be historical, for sure. People will regret it if they miss it.

7 Exactly enough fear porn... It will be a rally like every other rally

10 I think it will be much more high energy then any other rally so far; but you are right. It's a rally / protest.
Not a battlefield.

2 There is some cool stuff in DC to see if you get there early and stay late. The air and space museum is awesome. The metro is really clean and well laid out to get anywhere.
